BC Infrastructure Benefits Inc. (BCIB) is following Provincial direction around social distancing; we have moved our outreach and recruitment efforts to a web-based delivery format. We are now offering Virtual Information and Registration Sessions multiple times each week until we are able to meet with candidates and communities again.

These sessions are intended to give potential applicants a better understanding of BCIB's mandate, processes for hiring and employment, and review our user-friendly online application form. The virtual information session will also give an overview of our service plan and priorities, as well as look at some of our findings from our first workforce. The sessions also inform interested participants on our current and upcoming projects and detail our current understanding of the number of opportunities for employment on site, as well as expected project start dates. The last part of the session is geared towards filling out our online application process. In this section of the presentation we share our screen and in real time fill out the application process. We find that this helps applicants navigate our application process much easier, and we finish with answering questions from participants and are available following the presentation to assist individuals in the application process.

We have attached a schedule for all virtual events up to the end of May for your reference. We would greatly appreciate if you share this information with your community, contacts, and anyone you think would like to attend and apply for work at BC Infrastructure Benefits. The easiest way candidates can register for one of these sessions is to send us an email at info@bcib.ca to reserve their spots.

For more information on virtual sessions or to schedule a private group session please feel free to contact me directly, and I will be happy to find a time that works for you. I look forward to connecting.
