

Qwelminté Secwépemc

Qwelminté – Secwépemc G2G (QS-G2G)

Did you know that Adams Lake Indian Band is one of seven Secwépemc communities committed to collaborating on a long-term reconciliation agreement with the B.C. Government, focused on implementing inherent rights, improving community wellbeing and advancing government-to-government relationships.

In the News

Qwelminté Secwépemc successfully wrapped up a 2nd year of summer interns. We developed a one of a kind internship program for Indigenous students at the university level. The interns selected become active players for transformation in land and resource management in a manner upholding Secwépemc law, jurisdiction and governance.

Our 2020 interns captured Indigenous & Western knowledge through a speaker’s series for curriculum development; modelled wellbeing with sxúsem as well as effect of climate change on moose habitat in the North Thompson Watershed; and created our website.

Be sure to check out the news coverage by Castanet Kamloops, CFJC Today, and Kamloops This Week.

Qwelminté Secwépemc is a hub of leadership and technical expertise and we are strengthened by the collective wisdom of our representatives. We share knowledge and offer insight to each other as well as the Province of B.C. on what has worked and what has not.

Our work is founded on a walking on two legs approach- upholding both western laws and science as well as Secwépemc laws as laid out in our oral histories and songs. For the 7 Secwépemc signatories to this government to government table, as caretakers of Secwépemcúlecw, we look after everything below, everything on, and everything above our Mother earth. This includes the water world, the sky world, and our cultural heritage.

Find us on Facebook, Instagram and Twitter – you could win some Qwelminté Secwépemc swag!

Learn More about Qwelminté Secwépemc from our newly launched website: www.qwelmintec.ca